

Our goal of creating an AIDS-free generation that lives in a world of health and economic security is within reach. But only if we persevere and keep doing what we know works.